

Participation

In the first school year, all children are required to take part in JeKits lessons. The lessons take place as class periods in the timetable. Participation is compulsory and free of charge.

Participation for the second, third and fourth JeKits year is voluntary and subject to a fee and requires prior registration. In exceptional cases, JeKits 2 can be carried out in classroom groups under special conditions.

Parents are required to pay a monthly contribution per child of a maximum € 16. Additional fees may apply for extended offers.

Please get in touch with your school or the extracurricular partner to find out the monthly parental contribution charged locally.

Fee exemptions and concessions

JeKits would like to reach as many children as possible in North Rhine-Westphalia and is expressly aimed at all children at a JeKits school, regardless of their origin or social background.

In principle, a financially difficult situation should not be a reason for a family not being able to participate in JeKits.

Fee exemptions and concessions are available. Children from families who receive citizen's allowance (Bürgergeld), social assistance or similar social benefits are exempt from participation fees.

Participation is also free of charge for children whose parents receive housing benefit, child allowance, training support or benefits under the Asylum Seekers Benefits Act.

If two or more children of one family participate in the programme, the full amount is only payable for the first child. For each additional child only half the amount is payable.

Singing

Dear Parents,

Welcome to the JeKits programme. Your child is at a school that offers JeKits – An Instrument, Dancing or Singing for Every Child.

What is JeKits?

JeKits is a cultural education program for primary and special needs schools in the state of North Rhine-Westphalia. It offers three focal points: instruments, dancing and singing. The children have the opportunity to participate in the programme throughout their primary school years.

What are the JeKits objectives?

At the heart of JeKits is the joy of making music, dancing and singing together. The children acquire and hone their musical and dance skills. As they progress, they discover their own artistic aptitude for design and expression.

Their development is supported by social learning, creativity and active engagement with music and dance in the group. A wide range of experiences and constructive teaching content form the basis for further development in music-making, dancing and singing.

JeKits would like to give as many children in NRW as possible access to music and dance education, regardless of their origin or social background.

JeKits supports the collaboration between schools and extracurricular partners. JeKits thus enriches and strengthens the range of cultural education opportunities available.

What are the focal points?

Every JeKits school offers one of three focal points – instruments, dancing or singing. Your school has chosen singing.

Who are the cooperation partners?

Your school runs JeKits in cooperation with an extracurricular partner. For the focal point singing, this can be, for example, a local music school. Their teachers usually come to the school for the JeKits lessons. JeKits serves as a supplementary lesson to the school's lessons, however does not replace them.

The first JeKits-Jahr (JeKits 1)

What happens in the first JeKits year?

The first JeKits year offers all children in a class a multifaceted approach to making music and vocal creativity. They will also acquire a musical grounding, for example through playing simple instruments, movement/dance and listening to music.

How are lessons taught in the first JeKits year?

The JeKits lessons take place once a week as a class period and are part of the school curriculum. Lessons are taught in „tandem“: the music school teacher organises the lesson together with the primary or special needs school teacher.

Participation is compulsory and free of charge.

At the end of the first JeKits year, the children can decide to participate in the second JeKits year.

The second to fourth JeKits years (JeKits 2-4)

What happens from the second JeKits year onwards?

After laying the foundations for singing together in the first JeKits year, your child will now sing in one of the JeKits vocal ensembles and get to know many songs from different cultures.

Vocal skills are expanded through consistent vocal training based on healthy vocalisation. This allows the children develop individually and in an artistic-musical sense in the best possible way.

When they sing together, they experience themselves as part of a community and have the positive experience of having contributed to the success of a piece of music. Every child has the chance to experience appreciation, self-efficacy and their own skills.

When singing in an ensemble, the children expand their perception and experiential world. This can be the impetus for a lifelong active engagement with music and culture.

Regular concerts offer the children the opportunity to demonstrate their skills in front of an audience and thus strengthen their confidence in themselves and their own abilities.

How are lessons taught in the second JeKits year?

In the second JeKits year, lessons are given in the JeKits Vocal Ensemble.

Different formats are available with different content. The school and educational partner can decide which format is selected, depending on the regional requirements.

In exceptional cases, JeKits 2 can be carried out in classroom groups under special conditions.
